Summary

Ahoy Indie Media is a direct-to-artist media platform. The app does not provide unauthorized access to third-party streaming services, cable television, IPTV services, broadcast channels, or external discovery catalogs.

The content available in the app is either produced by Little Market LLC / Ahoy Indie Media, submitted by creators and rights holders who authorized Ahoy to distribute it, or otherwise cleared for use by Ahoy.

The AHOY TV section is a scheduled marketing and discovery surface for Ahoy-controlled video programming. It uses Ahoy catalog videos and organizes them into editorial channels such as Films, Music Videos, Live Shows, and Misc. It is not a retransmission service and does not connect users to third-party TV providers.

Included Records

- Master content rights register
- Current artist and rights holder schedule exported from Ahoy's production content database
- Creator content authorization template for ongoing rights records
- Rights controls checklist for future content intake and app review support

Platform Rights Position

Ahoy's AHOY TV feature is not a third-party cable, broadcast, IPTV, or unauthorized channel aggregation service. It is a marketing-style scheduled viewing surface that presents Ahoy-owned, Ahoy-produced, or Ahoy-authorized video programming from the platform catalog.

Company Statement

Little Market LLC / Ahoy Indie Media confirms that the Ahoy app does not provide unauthorized access to third-party streaming services, third-party TV providers, cable channels, or external discovery catalogs.

The app presents content produced by Ahoy/Little Market LLC or submitted by artists, creators, hosts, and rights holders who authorized Ahoy to stream, display, promote, and catalog their content in the Ahoy app.

Maintenance Rule

No content should be published to Ahoy unless the rights evidence exists first. If rights evidence is missing, the content should stay unpublished, hidden, or internal until the creator or rights holder authorization is complete.
